

DAY 21 — CELEBRATION & DEDICATION

Scripture:

Romans 12:1

“I urge you, brothers and sisters, in view of God’s mercy, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God—this is your true and proper worship.”

Devotional Reflection

Today is both a celebration and a dedication. We pause to acknowledge what God has done during this journey, and we look forward with intention toward what lies ahead. Transformation is not only something we reflect on — it is something we commit to living out.

Over the past 21 days, God has met us in moments of surrender, renewal, healing, obedience, and growth. Some changes have been noticeable and immediate, while others may feel subtle and still unfolding. Both matter. Transformation does not always announce itself loudly; often it reveals itself through steady shifts in desire, perspective, and direction.

Celebration matters because it reminds us that God is faithful. When we recognize His work, our faith is strengthened and our gratitude deepens. Dedication matters because transformation must be carried forward intentionally. What God has begun during this fast is meant to shape how we live, think, and respond moving forward.

Romans 12 reminds us that the appropriate response to God’s mercy is a life offered back to Him. Today is an invitation to dedicate ourselves again — not out of obligation, but out of gratitude. This dedication is not about perfection; it is about availability. As we offer ourselves to God, He continues the work of shaping our lives for His purpose.

As this fast concludes, remember that transformation does not end here. It continues as we walk daily in obedience, renewal, and trust. God has been faithful to begin this work, and He will be faithful to carry it forward.

"Thank You, Lord, for transforming my life. I am grateful for what You have done and confident in what You will continue to do. I offer myself to You again — my heart, my mind, and my future. Lead me forward in obedience and faith. In Jesus' name, Amen."

Fast Tie-In

Fasting creates space for transformation, but dedication carries it forward. Today, let gratitude for what God has done strengthen your commitment to live transformed beyond this season.

How will I live differently because of what God has done in me during this journey?
